

When I was clearing my parents' home following the death of my mother, I found a large cardboard box that seemed to have no connection with my family. Amongst innumerable ephemera concerning the supernatural (books, magazines and so on) was some obscure brand of cassette tape with the single word "Hannah" written on them. The cassettes had music on them but they were not pre-recorded. They contained long recordings of a single classical guitar recorded rather badly in mono. So I decided to view the discovery of the tapes as serendipitous and have used them as the basis for the Aux Luna project. I hope they have retained some of their charm and certainly their odd provenance is part of their mystique for me.

Alexander McCloughlin
Shropshire
England

One of the compact cassettes. All contained poor quality recordings of a classical guitar.

Troublesome spirits

'Noise-maker', 'mischievous spirit', troublesome ghost', however one wishes to translate the German word Polter-Geist its meaning is clear. Broken crockery, thrown cutlery, rappings and knockings with no obvious cause... all these elements are usually present at the scene of a... seem to ce... led investi... well be psy... mischief o

THE Inexp

Encounters of the fourth
Loch Ness: a non-scientific
A Christmas Poltergeist
Rennes-le-Château: The m
Talking Mongeese

ABOVE: In 1955, French photographer Gerrard Lestienne took this photograph after waiting patiently for an hour and a half in the room in which a poltergeist was said to be active. Published in Samedi Soir, Lestienne swore it was not faked.

It is November 1927 and in Elmwood Road, West London a series of strange events are about to unfold which will result in an entire family being forced to leave their home and will fascinate and horrify the entire nation.

Living with h... well as two of... Rose was ang... smashed the... outside to try...

Given it he was shocked even further when a... disappear of pictures, and and pieces of soda fell out of... nowhere and smashed through even more glass panes.

The issues of the Inexplicable magazine I found in the box had the name 'SHEPHERD' written on them - perhaps for the newspaper delivery boy? Assuming a parent read these I supposed this might also be Hannah's surname.

THE FACTS ABOUT

TEEN

POSSESSION

CREATIVE SÉANCES in the bedroom

how the dead can help with boyfriend trouble, fashion questions and more..!

WM

WHINNY MOOR

Diana

FOR GIRLS 1976

The girls annuals obviously belonged to Hannah, but they seem incongruous because as far as I can tell they have no supernatural connection.

Aux Luna seems to have been an ersatz version of 'View Master'. I thought it might make a suitable name for the musical project.

13. Fiber Tripod Projection Screen. Spring tensioned roller. Folds for storage. Screen size 40" (101x101cm.)
Cat. No. 570/0226
Argos Price £9.95
Rec. Retail £14.01

14. Junior Flying Saucer Scope. Focal length of 3mm. 3 interchangeable eyepieces-8mm, 12mm, and 18mm. With wooden field tripod and identification book.
Cat. No. 570/0195
Argos Price £27.95
Rec. Retail £37.50

15. Vargas Ghost Viewer. Monocular infra green paranormal phenomena viewer. With wooden slide board and poltergeist regional accent identification book.
Cat. No. 570/0196
Argos Price £25.91
Rec. Retail £27.20

16. Foxfire Ghost Box. Keeps ectoplasm at room temperature for up to six hours. Uses 4 x HP2 batteries (not included).
Cat. No. 570/0197
Argos Price £32.50
Rec. Retail £40.40

17. Aux Luna 3-D Viewer. View three dimensional occult photographs from around the world. Includes "Suburban Poltergeist" and "Witches and their Craft"
Cat. No. 570/0198
Argos Price £5.20
Rec. Retail £7.30

18. Aux Luna Spirit Lens. Traps spirits onto 35mm transparencies. Requires mains power (lead and plug included). Includes "Capturing the Paranormal" leaflet and instruction manual.
Cat. No. 570/0199
Argos Price £42.25
Rec. Retail £50.10

Vargas

AUX-LUNA

BINO

uzzy-felt-fest

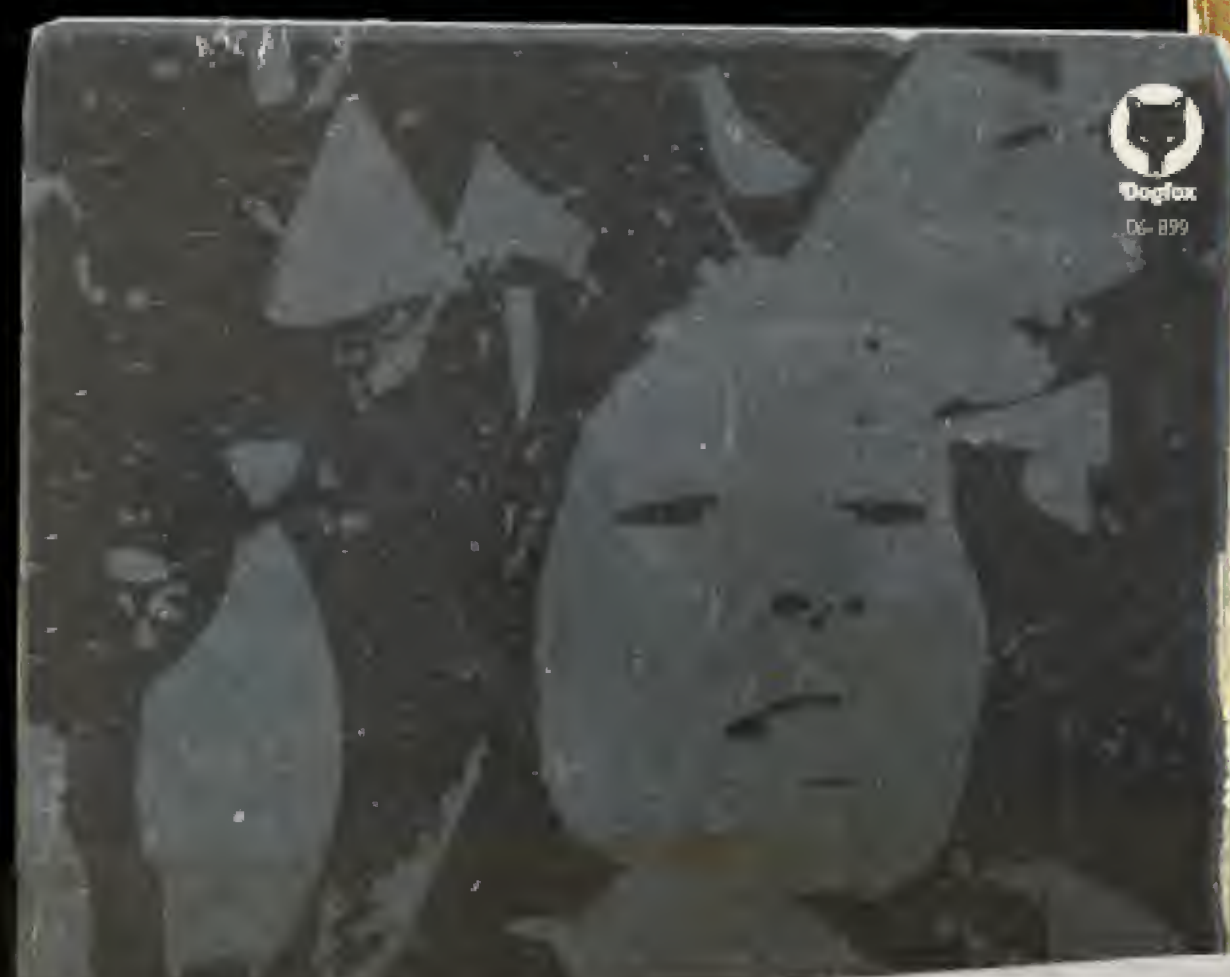

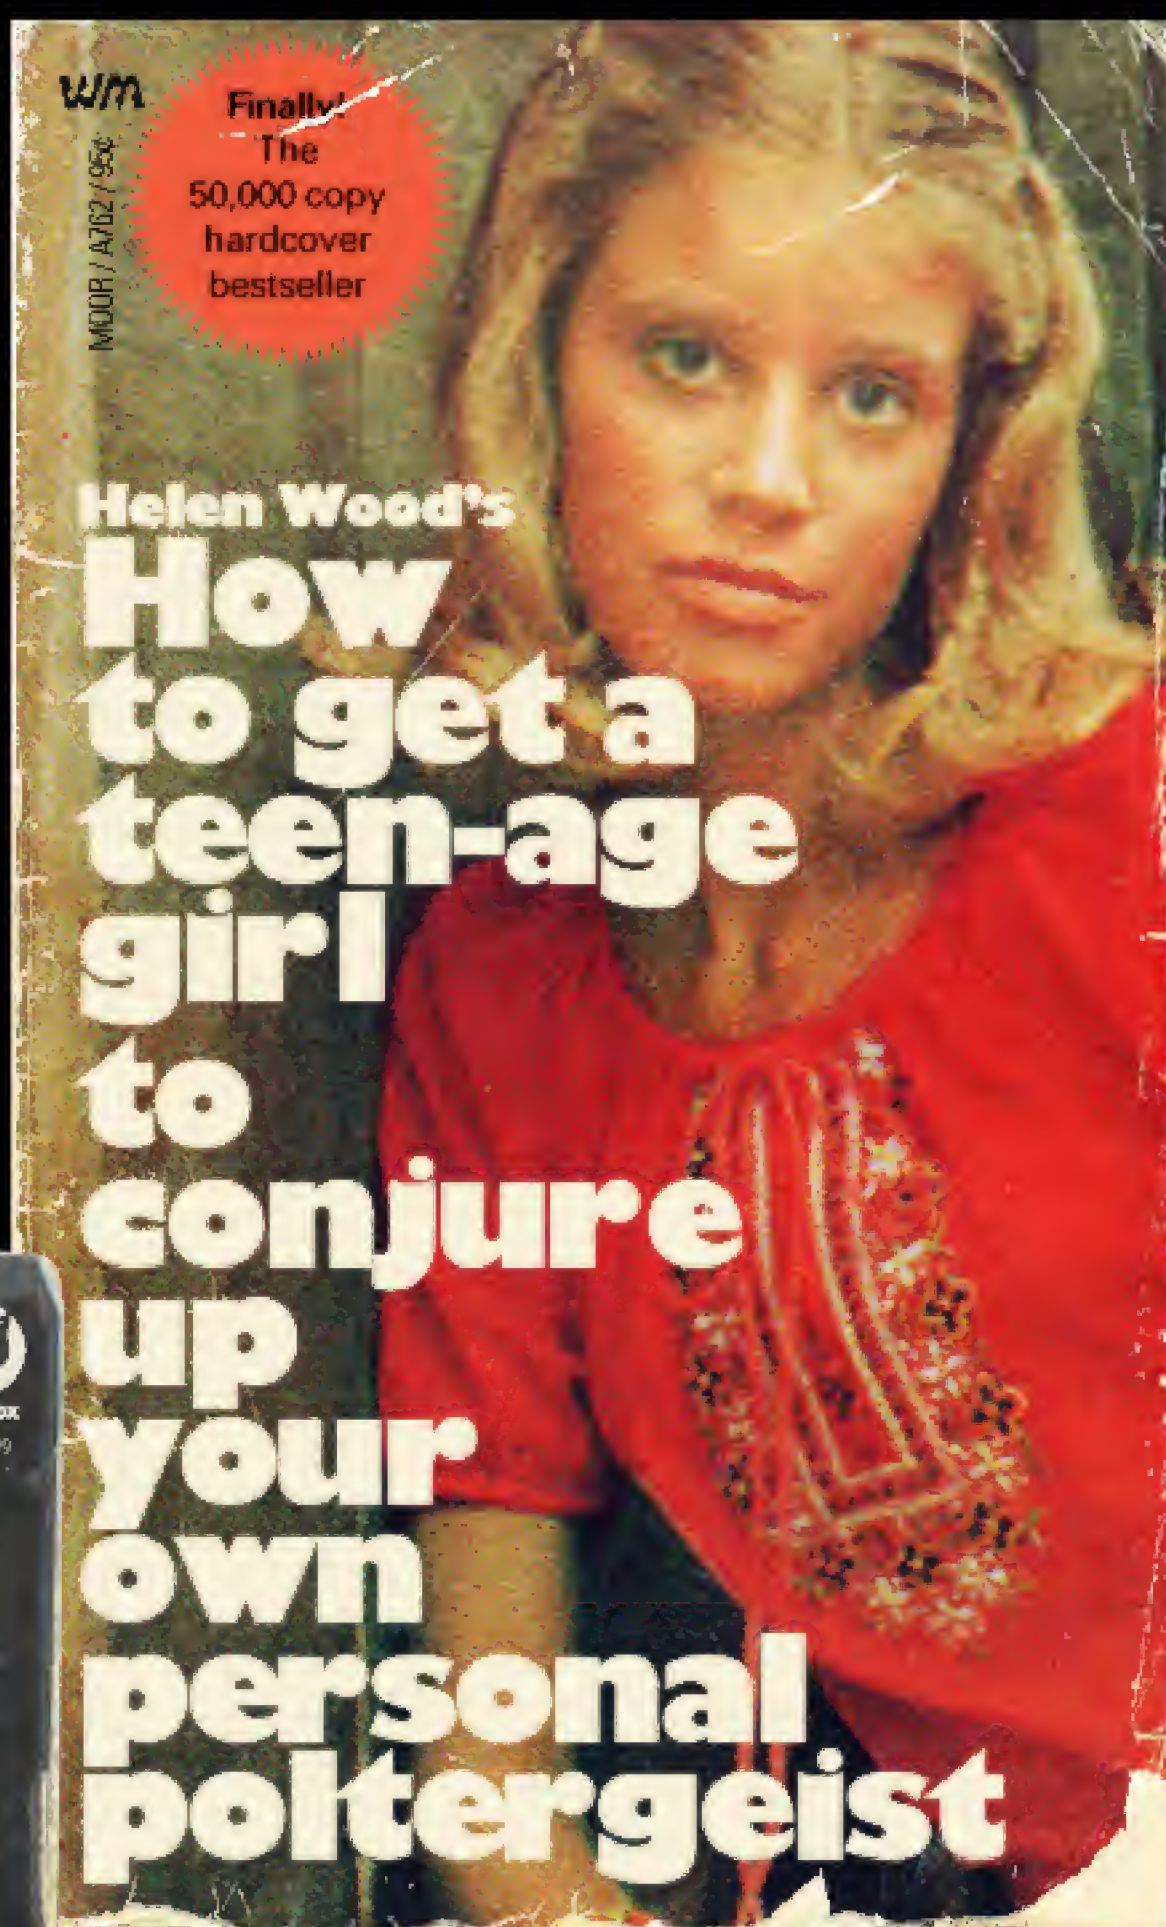

poltergeists

Brilliantly coloured felt shapes - to make fantastic scenes of hauntings

Put them on - take them off - they cling like Magick to the Fuzzy Board

Just three of the paperbacks I found in the box. Most from the same publisher it seems.

Win A KNOW-MORE BOOK

Experiencing the Occult

NATURAL SCIENCE

